

One to One Online Tutoring

With Rebecca Lyne

Information Sheet

Cost: £60 per session or £165 for three sessions.

What to expect

Approx 1 - 1.5 hours online face to face discussion via Zoom, at a suitable time for you, followed by a 'review and recommendation report'.

The aim of these tutoring sessions is to delve into and explore your journey, work and ideas. To provide a point of supportive reflection, to what can sometimes be a lonely journey.

Initially, we will review and discuss as much of your current and past work as possible. We will try to find and identify your core aims, technical & conceptual issues and other motivators; to contextualise them and expand options for paths forward.

After the face to face session, I will create a 'review and recommendation' report for you based on our discussions. This report will situate your work within contemporary practice, provide and suggest artists for review and/or recommend reading that will be relevant to your own practice. Then it will provide suggested exercises or projects that will be tailored to developing your own approach.

Further sessions will review your development and progress. I will create an ongoing programme of activity.

Please note that zoom sessions will be recorded for your and my reference.

Please contact Rebecca if you are interested and to talk about your needs.
